Collins Boxes With Broken Hand

Goes 9 Rounds After Injury-Gets Decision Over Abe-City Baseball Leaguers Have Surprises Coming-Langford to Fight Burns in America.

Bill Collins, the plucky Central Vil- | lage wrestler and boxer, met with misfortune in his ten-round go with Abe the Newsboy of New London in Finn's opera house, Jewett City, Thursday evening. In the first round of the bout, Bill swung hard with his left against Abe's head, and the heavy blow broke the bones in his hand. The fracture did not bother Collins much until the third round, when it began to main him intensely and put his until the third round, when it began to pain him, intensely, and put his left out of business as far as landing and more blows was concerned. Collins kept on gamely, however, using his injured hand in blocking, through the seven rermaining rounds, while with his right he gave Abe resounding thumps again and again. In

All through the bout the shape. All through the bout the advantage rested with the Central Village boy, whose endurance won hearty applause from the 290 onlookers present. Kid Wilson of Norwich acted as referee and gave Collins the decision at the end of the tenth round.

After the go, Collins received medical attention the doctor finding that the two metacaroni bones belonging the two metacarpal bones belonging to the first and second fingers of the left hand had been broken. The in-jury was a painful one, but just what jury was a painful one, but just what its consequences may be can not be decided just yet. Collins has a post-poned wrestling match on with Fritz Hanson at Burlington, Vt., for April 15, which he will be ready for if in condition, but the chances are that he will have to put it off, and all other matches during the next few weeks.

For a preliminary event, Thursday night, Kid Wilkerson of Lowell was to meet Brookg of Mystic, but the latter failed to show up, and Wilkerson went on with Buck Falvey. A draw was declared at the end of the draw was declared at the end of the SOREHEADS IN ROCKVILLE.

Frosty Reception for Manager O'Connell's New Team.

Looks as if there might be some soreheads over in Rockville over the placing of a team in that place by Bob O'Connell for the new Trolley league. O'Connell, who appears like a good live wire sport, has sailed into the towns and captured the fairgrounds for a ball grounds without getting permission from the Rockville seers who have always run the game there. Manager O'Connell predicts that Rockville will prove a better town than New London for the Trolley league.

The Rockville Leader says:

"Bob" O'Connell, who was given the franchise for Rockville, has been in this city once or twice. He talked with several of the fans, but he did not several of the fans, but he did not receive much encouragement. The idea of having the games at the fair grounds did not appeal to any of the local fans, and as the Union street grounds are leased by the All-Rock-villes, they could not be secured. Many of the men who have stood behind the team here and backed it in seasons gone by have little interest in base-ball at the present time. If Mr. O'Connell has any money be wants to put into baseball, he had better take a chance with some other city than Rockville. The conditions here are anything but favorable. At least this is what the wise baseball fans talk, and it comes very near being correct, The local baseball fans, who don't care to see the All-Rockvilles play this season, will get what baseball they want in Hartford and Springfield, and a few of the dyed-in-the-wool fans will journey to New York and elsewhere occasionally to witness the major learne games. the major league games,

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

NARROW MARKET.

Real Buyers and Sellers Remained Inactive.

New York, March 21.—The stock market today further disclosed its narmarket today further disclosed its narrow limitations. The professional operators who made up the market were timid about venturing far and a movement in either direction of any extent seemed to carry with it the necessity for a counter swing, like a pendulum. The traders are reported on one side of the market for a time and then shifted to the other side, while real buyers and sellers apparently refrained from taking any action at all. The course of events may be assumed to be insufficiently defined to induce speculative operations when a market is so nearly rigid as that of today. The opinions held by financial authorities are found to be doubtful and hesitating in a degree that would be expected from that state of affairs.

Great uncertainty exists as to the significance of the decision of the supreme court not to accompany the body of the late Justice Brewer to its resting place in Kansas. The desire expressed by the chief justice to avoid delay in the public business, given as the official explanation for the decidelay in the public business, given a the official explanation for the deci-sion, gives rise to a supposition in the financial district that the Amerithe financial district that the American Tobacco case may be decided on Monday. The opinion is universal in stock market circles that the handing down of that decision will be immediately followed by a pronounced movement of the market in one direction or the other. A state of suspense is a natural attitude for the market to assume with a near approach to the event. The subject was much discussed, with a repressive effect on activity. Another matter receiving much attention was the number of railroads following the example of the Pennsylvania by advancing wages of employes. vania by advancing wages of employes That action was of mixed effect or speculative sentiment. The large in creases in expense of operation in creases in expense of operation involved received grave consideration, in view of the high ratio of operating expenses already shown by monthly rallroad reports and the consequent inroads on the net returns. The intention of the railroads to make the situation a ground of contention for higher charges for service came into view through the announcement of increased passenger rates by the New York, New Haven and Hartford and through the circulation of printed arguments in behalf of higher freight rates.

Uneasiness over the crop conditions was revived by the failure of predictions of general rains in the southwest and by the cooler weather reported

Another wave of depression emanat-ed from the Granby mining episode in the Boston market. The gravity of the incident was inferred from the new

the Boston market. The gravity of the incident was inferred from the news of its influence in so remote a field as the Paris bourse.

The completion of the demand for cable remittances to London to meet payments tomorrow for the stock market settlement was followed by some reaction in cable transfers. London sent reports, however, of confident expectations of an early movement of gold from New York to that center. An easing of discount rates in London today was attributed, in fact, to that prospect. The local money market was unaffected by the preparations for the heavy April payments. The resistance encountered during the declines in prices left an impression, at the end of the day, of a support in the market such as it has lacked for several days past.

DECISION IS SPLENDID. Commission Did Exactly Right, Says Heydler, In Kling Case.

New York, March 31.—John Heydler, secretary-treasurer of the National League, who served on the National Commission last year, and is thoroughly familiar with the Kling case, came out tonight with a strong defence of the recent action of the commission in reinstating the famous catcher, Ban Johnson's opinion to the contrary not-withstanding.

"n my opinion," says Heydler, "the commission could not have ruled otherwise. "The finding is just and equitable and is most fair to the player, making it mandatory on the player to return to Chicago and fulfill the last year of his three-year contract at the figure he signed for, is splendid from every angle of baseball law. It means that a contract once entered into, that a contract once entered into, whether by the club on one side or the player or manager on the other, must be respected and lived up to."
